In 1910, UTS opened its doors to students for the first time. Now, more than a century later, it opens its doors to you.
It’s always a joy to sit in my office and hear the sounds of the school reverberating around me. It might be the voices of our students, a Taiko drumming practice, or a wellness breakfast in the foyer. All are reminders of the vitality of our school – a veritable symphony of UTS activity.

Our students flock to UTS from across the Greater Toronto Area. Intellectually curious, creative, eager to take initiative and supportive of one another, they come together to achieve remarkable things.

UTS is where you find your passion. I’m not sure yet where the journey will take me when I graduate, but I know this school has given me a solid foundation.

Students are sorted into one of four houses: Althouse, Lewis, Cody, and Crawford, competing in events throughout the school year.

UTS assemblies are run by and for students. Musical performances, skits, dramatic interludes and singalongs are all part of the experience!

The UTS experience is as rich and varied beyond the classroom as it is within. There are countless ways for students to discover their passions, develop their skills, become involved in student life, and take on leadership roles.
Here at UTS there is no limit to expressing your unique self.

Because of our merit-based admissions process, we attract the best candidates from across the Greater Toronto Area and beyond, regardless of their background and their experience. Our students have a sincere love of learning, strong character skills, and a real care for themselves and others.

FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE

UTS admits qualified students regardless of their financial circumstances. UTS actively seeks students who represent varied socio-economic backgrounds.

Admission decisions and the financial assistance decisions are made independently, and all financial assistance bursaries are based exclusively on need.

UTS has one of the largest financial assistance programs among independent schools in Canada and annually awards over $1.2 million in aid to approximately 20% of the student body.

"I absolutely would not have been able to go to UTS without the bursary program. It opened a lot of doors. It means a lot for me to be able to give back to the community.

As an alumnus, I look forward to keeping my relationship with UTS and the students here for years to come.

I’m in my seventh year volunteering with the UTS Branching Out mentorship program, which connects our senior students and alumni. It helps them find an important balance. That’s also one of the reasons I teach Taiko drumming to students after school. It helps them with their confidence and teamwork — important skills for anyone’s success.

I had no idea I would become so involved in school life.

The great thing about UTS is that with so many co-curriculars, you make close friends with students across all grades. That’s what makes UTS such a unique community, and that’s why the atmosphere is so welcoming. You can walk down the hallway and you’ll know everyone.

When I first arrived at UTS two years ago, I was both stunned and inspired by the elevated level of engagement, discourse, and leadership undertaken by the students.

UTS students challenge their teachers and peers to continually optimize learning potential to prepare for an uncertain future. This makes teaching and learning at UTS exciting, purposeful, and rewarding.
